The Pima County End of Life Care Coalition (EOLCC), an action team of the ELDER Alliance of Pima County, is proud to participate in National Healthcare Decision Day (NHDD) celebrated from April 16 through April 22, 2017. The national campaign aims to highlight the importance of advance healthcare decision-making in the United States, to normalize end-of-life conversations and to improve the preparation, documentation and resources available to help citizens make informed choices regarding end-of-life planning and care. It is our goal to encourage individuals in Pima County to learn more about end of life care planning and complete their own advance directive.

“It always seems too early, until it’s too late”

National Healthcare Decisions Day is a project of The Conversation Project, the renowned national nonprofit dedicated to helping people talk about their wishes for end-of-life care.” Each day during the week of April 16th the Pima County EOLCC will follow the national plan by highlighting local and national resources and information on end-of-life-care planning.

Starting April 16th be sure to visit www.pimaendoflifecare.org

The End of Life Care Coalition (EOLCC) serves as a resource for end-of-life care planning and awareness throughout the County, as well as a change network to support collaborators and service providers involved in end-of-life care planning. The EOLCC conducts community forums, workshops and provides resources to increase conversation, planning and documentation of end-of-life wishes.

The Coalition thanks our generous supporters:
